

RADIOISOTOPES Journal Checklist

If there is even one "no", it is recommended to revise the paper before the examination. Please note that if the paper is not well formed, it will take a long time to be judged.

Name (First author) : _____

class	No.	checklist	✓
Overall	1	The paper is unpublished and has not been submitted to other journals. (Due to posting rules, double posting is not allowed.)
	2	Use the given template.
	3	All co-authors agreed to be responsible for all statements in the paper.
Title	4	The title properly described the content and characteristics of the paper.
Abstract	5	The number of words in the abstract is appropriate (Posting Rule Table 1).
keyword	6	6. The author selected about 5 words or phrases as keywords that accurately describe the content of the paper.
	7	Keywords are written in noun singular and lowercase (proper nouns can be capitalized).
	8	Nuclides are written in English, not element symbols. e.g. caesium-137.
	9	If there is an abbreviation, write it in parentheses after the spelling out. Example: Positron Emission Tomography(PET).
Text	10	There are no omissions, or typographical errors in the text, and the units are all SI units.
	11	The nuclide (with mass number) is written with the element symbol, and the mass number is attached to the left shoulder Example: ^{137}Cs
	12	The author confirmed that the numbers of figures, tables and formulas in the text were correct.
	13	The author collated the reference number in the text with the cited reference list and confirmed that there was no excess or deficiency.
	14	The author wrote the explanation about the contents of the chart in the text.
	15	15. When the abbreviation appears for the first time in the text, the spell out (or the official name) is entered. Example: Fukushima Dai-ichi Nuclear Power Plant (FDNPP) Accident
Figures	16	Figure captions and descriptions are below the figure, table captions are above the table, and descriptions are below the table.
	17	Insertion position of figure and table is specified in the text.
	18	When reprinting figures and tables, the author obtained permission from the copyright holder.
	19	Figures and tables were submitted as PDF files separately from the text.
Reference	20	The author listed the references according to "Writing Notes".
	21	If there are more than 5 authors in the reference, the author names for 4 are listed, and the fifth and subsequent authors are omitted in et al.
English	22	The author confirmed that the English grammar in the manuscript was correct.
